“ I studied chemistry and started working in the paper and packaging industry as a product developer. In 2004, I joined Mondi as an application engineer for the Consumer Bags & Films business. Since then I have worked as a business development manager and a sales director.

In 2013, I returned from my maternity leave and took over as managing director at our Consumer Goods Packaging plant in Korneuburg.

Mondi offers many different professions and career opportunities in a multinational group while each entity retains its identity. What I like most is the encouragement to think out of the box and take on new challenges. I learn something new every day. There's no limit to knowledge and experience.

“ My first contact with Mondi was just after my graduation from university, when Mondi was searching for an environmental engineer for sustainable development projects.

I was lucky to be appointed in the Mondi Tire mill in 2012. It was exciting and a great learning experience. Later I took over quality control and assurance together with environment, which enabled me to improve my managerial and communication skills while working with colleagues from different plants. Then I was offered the chance to work in the SHE (Safety, Health, and Environment) department with responsibility for Technical Customer Service as well.

” In all my positions, I found a dynamic and multicultural environment in which I worked with people from all around the world.

ArtPack: A Natural Experience

2016 German Packaging Award in the 'Design & Finishing' Category

We're honored to have won the German Packaging Award at the 2016 FachPack trade fair in the 'Design & Finishing' category for ArtPack's natural appearance and paper-like feel that keeps these farm-made chips tasting fresh from the oven. ArtPack is a special matte lacquer applied to flexible film. Combined with a paper structure in the artwork, it creates the look and feel of real paper.

“ We were in search of the perfect packaging, and it was especially important to us that our high-quality potato chips should arrive at the customer crispy and crunchy, as though straight from the oven. We were also looking for a packaging design that would optimally express the close-to-nature production concept of these very special crunchy potato chips. Mondi's ArtPack was just what we were looking for. ”

New Products for Changing Demographics

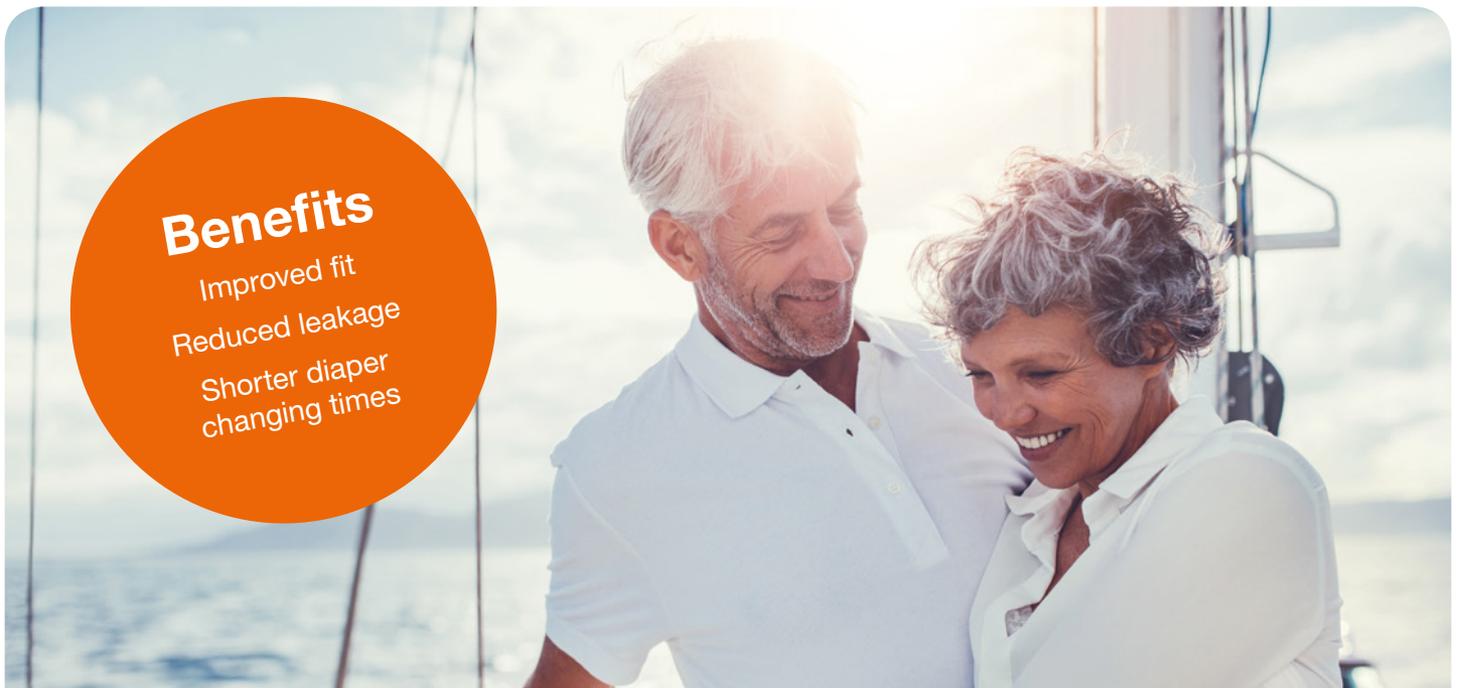

Greater Comfort in Adult Diapers

A growing population of seniors living longer lives means the focus on adult incontinence products has increased in recent years. Our hygiene industry customers have been developing softer and more flexible adult diapers. In support of this trend, we have developed a high-stretch laminate for the belt application. This material, which can be up to 650 mm wide, allows our customers to simply slit the material in-line and glue it to the chassis. No further lamination of different elastic and non-elastic materials is required.

This innovation also has clear benefits for the end users. Due to excellent stretching properties and retraction forces, the diapers fit better and leakage is reduced. Senior care staff also report that the changing time has been reduced significantly.

Benefits

- Improved fit
- Reduced leakage
- Shorter diaper changing times

Imagine All That a Box Can Become

How Would You Like to 'Wow' Your Customers?

This Mondi retail packaging concept presents a clever incentive for end users. After its initial use, the smart box design can be transformed to create an entertaining or practical second use. Consumers can quickly fold the packaging into fun items like a dollhouse, theater, mini circus, cat home, mini soccer table, or drums.

In 2016, this innovative promotional concept received an iF Design Award.

“ The second-use concept has proved to be an end-user hit. Our customer’s sales of private label diapers were boosted to make them the leading diaper brand in Poland. Launching several new second-use designs extended the success of this packaging concept. Mums shared this discovery a lot on social media. ”

Bag Solutions That Can Withstand Water and Rain

We listened closely to our customers' needs in order to jointly develop the next generation of industrial bags: The results were the SPLASHBAG, a water-resistant paper bag, and the water-repellent HYBRID^{PRO} bag.

We are proud that our innovative HYBRID^{PRO} bag won a PART (Packaging: Art, Research, Technology) Award at RosUpack 2016!

More Power Than You Expect

Let's Fuel the Journey from Organic Waste to Biogas!

Composting organic kitchen waste is good for the environment, but it can be a messy chore. With Advantage MF EcoComp we developed a specialty kraft paper just for this purpose. Because the paper itself is certified fully biodegradable and compostable, the whole waste bag can be thrown in the composting bin. One of many reasons why Svenco, one of Europe's major manufacturers of paper bags, chose our specialty kraft paper to develop a waste paper bag that makes a difference.

“ Thanks to its water-repellent qualities, which prevent leaks while minimizing odors and allowing water vapor to pass through the paper wall, Mondi's specialty kraft paper is the perfect material for our waste bag. ”

Christer Hansson
Managing Director
Svenco

The bag's journey is not over once it has collected organic kitchen waste. In fact, it is still picking up speed at the recycling plant by going straight to the biogas facility for conversion into a fuel that is supplied by Swedish gas stations. One full waste bag made of Advantage MF EcoComp can power a car over a distance of up to 4 km.¹ Together, let's continue this Swedish drive for success. Every day.

Developing Creative and Sustainable Solutions for Your Success

A close-up photograph of a person's hands wearing white work gloves, carefully holding a small evergreen tree with its root ball and soil. The tree is vibrant green with dense needles. The background is softly blurred, showing a person in a blue shirt and orange cap working in a field of similar trees under a bright sky. The overall scene conveys a sense of environmental care and sustainable practices.

Sustainable. Every Day.

Every day, we think about tomorrow. We're more sustainable than you expect. It's a priority in everything we do. Our future success depends on the well-being of our people and the health of the communities and environments in which we work.

Growing Responsibly

Our previous commitment period (2011–2015) delivered significant achievements across the business. These included reducing our climate impact, emissions, and waste; promoting responsible forestry; developing collaborative relationships critical to our future success; and strengthening our safety culture of zero harm. We are now ready for the next step in our sustainability journey.

Launched in 2015, our new 'Growing Responsibly' model is one of our Group's strategic value drivers. While growing responsibly has long been our philosophy, the model will continue to maintain a focus on our 16 clearly defined commitments up to 2020¹ and beyond across ten action areas:

Employee and Contractor Safety

- Avoid work-related employee and contractor fatalities
- Prevent life-altering injuries
- Reduce TRCR² by 5%³

Biodiversity and Ecosystems

As part of our global partnership with WWF and in cooperation with WWF Russia and local NGO Silver Taiga, we have actively supported the launch and development of the WWF Boreal Forest Platform in Russia.
